BDLive - The rand firmed to its best level in nearly two years on Tuesday amid easing US inflation concerns as comments from the Federal Reserve reaffirmed its dovish stance.

Its emerging-market peers also gained as the Fed's comments helped calm investor nerves about tightening monetary policy. European shares rose to record highs on Tuesday, soothed by reassurance from US Federal Reserve officials that monetary stimulus won't be clawed back any time soon.

Sentiment in Europe was also underpinned by the latest Ifo indicator, which showed that the upswing for the German economy, Europe's largest, is picking up pace after the knock from Covid-19.

A multi-billion-euro takeover deal combining two of Germany's biggest property developers was a focus. Vonovia slipped 4% on news it was taking over rival developer Deutsche Wohnen, whose shares surged over 15%, for about €18bn.

BDLive - Bengaluru — Gold prices edged lower on Tuesday as risk appetite improved after US Federal Reserve officials calmed investor concerns over inflation, though a subdued dollar and lower bond yields limited the metal's losses.

Spot gold was down 0.1% to $1,878.90 an ounce by 5.03am GMT. US gold futures fell 0.2% to $1,880.10.

"The sentiment pendulum swung back to the bullish side overnight, after a procession of Federal Reserve officials talked down inflation risks. That led to a broad-based recovery in equity markets and has seen gold's momentum temporarily halted," Oanda senior market analyst Jeffrey Halley said.
