BDLive - The JSE tracked weaker global markets on Wednesday as hawkish comments by a US Federal Reserve official weighed on sentiment.

Fed governor Lael Brainard said in a virtual speech to the Minneapolis Fed on Tuesday that the central bank's task of reducing inflation pressures was "paramount", and it would raise interest rates steadily while starting to reduce its balance sheet as soon as May. Global share prices eased and US treasury yields hit multiyear highs on Wednesday as investors bet that the US Federal Reserve will couple shrinking of its balance sheet in May month with a big interest-rate hike to quell decades-high inflation.

Investors also waited for details of the latest package of co-ordinated sanctions on Russia from the US and its allies over civilian killings in Ukraine.

BDLive - Bengaluru — Gold prices were flat on Wednesday as hawkish comments from US Federal Reserve officials bolstered the dollar and Treasury yields to multiyear highs, denting bullion's safe-haven demand and offsetting support from uncertainty around the Ukraine war.

Spot gold was flat at $1,922.59 per ounce at 03.20am GMT, after declining 0.4% earlier in the session. US gold futures were down 0.1% to $1,926.20.

"Traders remain heavily net-long on gold futures markets, and that's clearly helping to support prices overall," said City Index senior market analyst Matt Simpson. "Yet, the stronger US dollar and lack of safe-haven demand are capping its upside potential."

FarmProgress - Corn prices emerged from a choppy session with losses of around 0.5%, despite testing modest gains briefly this morning. Despite some big daily moves here and there, prices have stayed in a fairly narrow channel for the past few weeks. Today, May futures slid 4 cents to $7.5575, with July futures down 2.5 cents to $7.4575.

Corn basis bids were steady to mixed on Wednesday, especially at interior river terminals, which fell as much as 6 cents at an Ohio location while firming as much as 10 cents at an Illinois location today.

Ethanol production fell to the lowest level since late February for the week ending April 1, with a daily average of 1.003 million barrels, per the latest data from the U.S. Energy Information Administration out earlier today. Stocks fell 2%, trending lower for the first time in five weeks.

Ahead of Thursday morning's weekly export report from USDA, analysts expect the agency to show corn sales ranging between 22.6 million and 55.1 million bushels for the week ending March 31.

Soaring input costs have prompted a critical question for the 2022 season – stay the course or mix things up? According to a recent Farm Futures survey, only 9% of respondents are planning to significantly change their crop rotations this season. Responses also highly suggest there won't be a struggle to secure fertilizer supplies this spring.

FarmProgress - Wheat prices were mixed but mostly lower following some uneven technical maneuvering on Wednesday. Worries over U.S. crop quality and tightening overseas supplies kept losses mostly minimized, although some technical selling and profit-taking still occurred. May Chicago SRW futures fell 5.25 cents to $10.40, May Kansas City HRW futures picked up 2.5 cents to $10.825, and May MGEX spring wheat futures dropped 5.25 cents to $11.0650.

Prior to Thursday morning's export report from USDA, analysts expect the agency to show wheat sales ranging between 3.7 million and 27.6 million bushels for the week ending March 31.

Ukrainian consultancy UkrAgroConsult expects the country's 2022/23 wheat exports to drop 14.2% to 598.9 million bushels. Wheat production this season is expected to face an even sharper decline, tumbling 38% year-over-year to 727.5 million bushels.

Ample rains have Australian farmers already optimistic about the 2022/23 winter wheat crop. Australia is also expected to be the world's No. 3 wheat producer in the current marketing year, with sales totaling 1.010 billion bushels.

FarmProgress - Soybean prices shifted moderately lower after a round of technical selling and profit-taking today but remain in very good shape overall, staying above $16 per bushel despite a double-digit drop. May futures faded 13 cents lower to $16.18, with July futures down 12 cents to $16.02.

Soybean basis bids were steady to mixed after sliding a penny lower at an Illinois river terminal while firming 2 to 5 cents higher at two other Midwestern locations on Wednesday.

Private exporters announced to USDA the sale of 5.2 million bushels of soybeans for delivery to China during the 2021/22 marketing year, which began September 1.

Ahead of tomorrow morning's export report from USDA, analysts anticipate seeing soybean sales between 22.0 million and 57.0 million bushels for the week ending March 31. Analysts also expect to see between 100,000 and 360,000 metric tons of soybean sales last week, plus another 5,000 MT to 45,000 MT in soyoil sales.
